I'm going to a fancy dress party next week.

The problem is that I have no idea how I should dress up. Last time when I was at such a party, people were wearing some awesome costumes.

From: Andrew
To: John
Subject: Problems ?

Hi John,
Sorry to hear you're having problems, but let me find some simple solutions.

You're worried because you're overweight. Well, the answer is: you shouldn't eat so much! If you want to lose weight, perhaps you ought to cut down on fatty food and go on a diet.

You also say you're tired all the time. Of course you are.

You work too many hours and you had better take some days off. If I were you, I'd go to bed earlier and get a good night's sleep. And the answer to your headache is simple: You ought to use your computer less and take up swimming or running.

All the best,
Andrew

B. giving advice
C. putting on weight.

Hi Adam,

Well, I've just had the first day in my new job at the medical office.

It didn't go too badly. First, I met the manager, Mr Jackson. He seems to be very nice and helpful. We had a tea and a chat. Then he told me about my duties and showed me how to use the office facilities (computer, fax and the photocopier). After that I met the other people working in the office. We all went for lunch.

Finally I started my work at about 2 o'clock and it was quite a good day.

Anyway, I'll let you know what happens.

Jackie

A	Poolboy is a book by Michael Simmons which makes a good read for teens who aren't keen on long novels because it has fewer than 200 pages. Fifteen-year-old Brett Gerson is a wealthy teenager who lives in a huge house with a pool. One day, a knock on the door changes everything. His father is arrested and his family loses all their money and their home. Brett has to find a job to help his mum and sister. Can his life be as good as it used to be? Can he ever forgive his dad?

B	What was life like for people six thousand years ago? Find out in Wolf Brother , which is a story about a young orphan boy Torak, who lives in a forest. Torak makes friends with a wolf cub. The story is magical, but believable because the author, Michelle Paver, lived in forests while she was writing the book. If you like stories about the battle between good and evil, this is the book for you.
----------	--

C	The Ali Abbas Story is an amazing book about courage. Ali Abbas is an Iraqi orphan. He lost both arms and was terribly burned after bombs hit his house in Baghdad on 31 March 2003. He also lost sixteen members of his family. Thousands of people gave money so that Ali could have medical treatment in the UK, where he now lives with his uncle. His book describes how he left Iraq after he was hurt and there are interviews with friends, family and doctors as well as Ali himself.

B: No, not yet. I'm packing my suitcase right now and I can't decide what to take.

A: Have you taken your hiking boots? We'll probably spend all days in the mountains, so we need good boots, don't we?
B: Definitely. I took my hiking boots, some warm clothes like a jumper or gloves.

A: Gloves? Do you think it will be cold? It's May.

B: You never know. You'd better be prepared.

A: OK, I'll take some warm clothes then. And what about a raincoat? It can rain any time in the mountains.

B: Good idea. I forgot about that. Actually I don't have it at home so I'll have to buy it.

 Can you collect it before half past six?
 We close at six thirty. Thanks. Goodbye.

Zadanie 2.

2.1. Simon
 Well, it's the quickest way to get anywhere. I don't enjoy long journeys. I want to relax in my seat and get up a few hours later in a completely new place. I know there are often delays and it can be annoying waiting for your flight but it's an easy and convenient way for lazy travellers. You don't have to think much.

2.2. Jack
 What I like about travelling in this way is that I can choose when I go and when I come back. There are no timetables to keep to so I never have to get to an airport or a station at a particular time.
 And of course I can take anything I want because there are no luggage restrictions.

2.3. Emily
 I think it's a slow way to travel but very comfortable. You are on board and you are looked after during your journey. There's everything you could possibly need: restaurants, cinemas, night-life and even hairdressers and beauty salons! I know you don't move very fast but I can admire beautiful sea views and I always feel completely relaxed when I finally reach my destination.

2.4. Mark
 I like to get around like this. It's good exercise and I'm in the fresh air. I can stop whenever I want to.
 It's really nice on a sunny day but if it rains or gets dark it can be terrible. I sometimes get very wet but I never feel cold! It's a great and cheap way of travelling.

Zadanie 3.

Ann: Hi Tom.
Tom: Hi Ann. How are you?
Ann: Fine, thanks. I need your help Tom.
Tom: What's the matter?
Ann: I have problems with my computer and I know you are very good at solving them.
Tom: What happened?
Ann: Yesterday I was writing my French homework for tomorrow's lesson and suddenly my computer crashed and I lost all my work! Do you think it's possible to get it back?
Tom: Did you make a back-up copy of your work?
Ann: I'm afraid I forgot. I'm sorry, Ann, but I can't see any way of getting your French homework back.
Tom: Remember you always have to make a back-up copy of your work.
Ann: I know, I know. But I always forget about it.
Tom: - Do you use a computer a lot?
Ann: I write all my essays and exercises on the computer but I think mine is not user-friendly.
 Moreover, it has become ancient and I have to replace it.
Tom: That's true, technology advances so fast that the computer which I bought last year is already old-fashioned.

Zadanie 4.

4.1. Your new flat looks lovely. So when are you moving in?
4.2. What's your girlfriend into?
4.3. May I see your tickets, please?
4.4. Would you like to come to the funfair on Friday?
